Isolation and comparison of mitochondrial DNA from human retinoblastoma and osteosarcoma. In situ hybridization has been used to map the location of mitochondrial DNA (mtDNA) in human retinoblastoma and osteosarcoma. Neoplastic and non-neoplastic cell types in these tissues have been separated and the distribution of mtDNA restriction fragments has been examined. A high level of mtDNA restriction fragment deletion is observed in the retinoblastoma tumor cells, suggesting that a specific deletion of mtDNA may be associated with retinoblastoma tumorigenesis. In contrast, the osteosarcoma cells contain low levels of mtDNA deletion and the mtDNA restriction profiles are similar to those from corresponding control cells.Design and synthesis of mono- and disubstituted-1,3-aminoindane oxides: inhibitors of cell growth. A series of mono- and disubstituted-1,3-aminoindane oxides were synthesized and evaluated as potential tumor-selective cytotoxic agents. Several compounds were potent inhibitors of cell growth in vitro. Optimized compounds exhibited GI50

values ranging from 1 to 3 microM. Selectivity against HT-29 (colon adenocarcinoma), BNL-1 (rat hepatoma), and LOX (mouse lung fibroblastoma) was demonstrated. Certain compounds showed increased potency in HT-29 cells and decreased toxicity in normal fibroblast cells. Mitotic delay was the primary toxic effect. Structural characterization of one of these compounds (11b) was accomplished by nuclear magnetic resonance and MS.Q: Why is it so hard to fill "the hard-to-fill" posts? Development's (HUD) announcement that it has selected the first three recipients of the first round of $3 billion in funding. HUD announced the first round recipients last week. Since then, it has been trying to figure out how to distribute the money. Because each of the projects will be small, the winner will receive their money quickly. But this round will be different from future rounds. A new approach. HUD Administrator Audrey Edmonson says in the first round, the administration will focus on innovation. HUD will work with each recipient to come up with solutions. The three winners are: * 1 million housing vouchers from the American Community Housing Trust to rebuild and modernize housing for low-income and formerly homeless families in the Southeast and Midwest. * Small businesses fund grants, mentorship and other benefits to small businesses in the Midwest. This round is specifically for small businesses in Chicago, which has been hit hard by a slew of businesses closures. *The Preservation Assistance for Communities in Transition (PACT) program, which will focus on revitalizing distressed inner city neighborhoods. HUD is still working on the program criteria to determine which projects will get a "green light." What's Hackernews and what's Gawker.com? - jacquesm What's the difference
